

CASE STUDY

Entegre Otomasyon is a family owned company established in Istanbul in 1998. They have been providing engineering and consultancy services to Turkey's food industry, with a particular focus on poultry.

Our multi-disciplinary design and communication agency, Magnetic, was appointed by them to re-design their brand from scratch and re-launch it with a new name: Entomak.

We have been tasked with creating a new brand which would be in line with their partner's brands, whilst also making them stand out from their competitors.

The brand had to reflect their trustworthy service and high quality.

BRAND DEVELOPMENT

Logo versions for different uses

We created a few variations of the Entomak logo to allow applications on multiple media channels.

Colour palette

The selected colours aim to represent the industrial nature of the company while triggering a modern and trustworthy feeling.

The colour palette is also aligned with their main partners so that they look coherent when displayed together.
